night by elie wiesel is a work of holocaust literature with a decidedly autobiographical slant wiesel based the book at least in part on his own experiences during world war ii through just a brief 116 pages the book has received considerable acclaim and the author won the nobel prize in 1986 the quotes below show the searing nature of the novel as wiesel tries to make sense of, the second example of bystanders in night would be when wiesel describes moishe the beadle who was departed from sighet for being a foreign jewish man but later returned moishe described how he barely made it out alive and the other deported jewish people had been shot and buried in a massive grave this included the infants of those departed, up as well so to mask their conscience bystanders looked around one another and pretended not to react if not at all another example of pluralistic ignorance is from elie wiesels novel night where elie and his father along with other jews that are in concentration camps complain that the world is not interested in us, elie wiesel elie states this quote in the beginning of the book when they were entering the camps and just opening their eyes up to whats actually happening inhumanity plays all through the book the gestapos and hungarian police treated the prisoners heartlessly, night by elie
