lights use thin light wires that can be torn easily through repeated wear or a sudden jolt if this happens it can cause the lights to flicker or to not work at all and can pose a safety hazard fortunately christmas lights are simple devices most problems can be solved by simply patching a, the string uses a full wave rectifier improves flicker and splits the diodes between the plug end and receptacle end so both plug and receptacle are not too large so for an extra wire per bulb this design gains redundancy one bulb of any or multiple pairs can be missing or open and the string still lights, led light string
